

I wake up every day with gratitude in my heart and a burning desire to make my dreams come true.

I refuse to procrastinate on my vision.
I don't wait for someday — I make things happen today.

I have the skillset to move people into action
and the power to move people into better lives.

I operate from a place of prosperity and abundance.

I'm constantly striving to become a better version of myself
while being grateful for how far I've come.

I focus on solutions, not problems.
I don't make excuses, I create results.

I attack my goals with conviction and absolute confidence.

Challenges and setbacks do not phase me.
They are part of the journey and I overcome them with ease.

I am part of an elite community who has my back through thick and thin.
I know that if everyone is moving forward together, then success will take care of itself.

The purpose of my learning is mastery.
I focus on sharpening and improving my copywriting skills each and every day.

I am a student of human psychology and behavior.
I only use my powers for good.

I am the captain of my ship — master of my destiny.
I am in full control of my life and I won't let anyone hold me down.

I am in charge of how much I earn. I get paid based on results — the more revenue I generate, the more money I make.

I am the silent rainmaker.

I have a skill I can be proud of and depend on to feed my family and loved ones until the day I die.

I write my own destiny.
